Final law. The United States will be charged as a public institution under nominal American control, although Mexican civil officials, probably by name and the local officials, planned to continue their duties if they desire.

FACTORIES JOIN.

Reports from the border say that everywhere the Mexicans are reported in a fever of anti-American excitement and all the Americans, Carrancistas alike, are flocking back to Mexico to join the colors of the de facto government forces in a war against the American.

An official report thus quotes Dr. M. N. Wade, superintendent of the El Cajon mine at Boludique: "The whole country from Magdalena north is in a state of alarm. We have never seen the Mexicans so hostile. Party differences have been buried and the people spend the nights parading the streets with bands, firecrackers and songs for war on the United States."

The whole State of Sonora, we learned, has been partitioned and the miners, miners, gun horses, gun horses and supplies listed.

"We were treated with every respect, because the orders came carefully down from the orders of the general in charge at Magdalena, but it required threats of death to keep the soldiers and populace from suing us."

BE A MISTAKE.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

The United States annexation of Mexico, territorial or otherwise, would be a war of destruction for Mexico in guerrilla warfare, which would last many years.

A war of Pan-Americanism should not be forgotten—it would be impaled by war. The newspaper asserts the United States would win more triumphs of Pan-Americanism, but the cost would be grievous which the Mexican people did not inflict. It adds that while the United States has a perfect right to annex Mexico, it would commit a grave error of clarifying war, and that it is the duty of the government to avoid war.

The newspaper suggests an independent Mexican government, with factions in Mexico and an alliance of arms, while a strict police can be placed on the frontier.

LONDON, June 25.—The government's war appropriation bill caused a spirited debate in the Chamber of Deputies Sunday evening. The Socialist deputy, Brison, opposing the claim of the government, and attacked the recent address of President Poincaré at Nancy. Protests and cries of "shame" from various parts of the chamber followed Deputy Brison's statements.

President Deschanel of the Chamber and Finance Minister Ribot objected to the bill, and the government's only support. That is it is a bill to raise money, but it is not a bill to achieve only one thing.

On the other hand, the government's only support is that in one day they have had to do more than three German ships.

If the women and children of France knew how the struggle is being fought here at Verdun, upon how many dead and maimed it has cost, they would do more than never before in the world's soldiers have done.

"Neither the Chamber nor any Frenchman could consent to an immediate armistice and peace, which would mean that we renounce our rights under the peace," said Deschanel.

The appropriations which are for the third quarter of 1916, were adopted.

It is figured that there were 200,000 men, every year, to the German forces, but as the result of their division, they are a mile apart.

Impending Departure of the Pomona Guardsmen Announced from the Pulpit, by Siren and by Telephone; Programme Before Good-byes.

Coming as a signal for a remarkable demonstration of patriotism, love and confidence, the news that Co D was to leave in the afternoon swept like wildfire over the Pomona Valley yesterday, and there followed an entire day of farewells which will mark a milestone in the city's history.

From the church pulpits and by a great siren whistle and the telephone the news was spread and a programme was hurriedly mapped out. At a recent 3000 people cheered the men who had been in the train rolled out from the Santa Fe station.

Following the announcement in all the churches in the city, which would leave in the afternoon there were prayers for the safety of the boys. While this was in progress relatives of the guardmen hurried to the armory for last minute and pathetic scenes were enacted as loved ones parted.

The public, too, all came in the afternoon just before the time set for the departure of the company from the armory. With Major Vandegrift as master of ceremonies, a few addresses were delivered by prominent citizens. As a coincidence the farewell speech was delivered by J. Albert Dug, veteran of the Civil War, who also delivered the farewell address to the company when it left for the Spanish-American War.

With a report of bands of citizens, including the G.A.R. Spanish-American War veterans and city officials the company was taken to the Santa Fe station in automobiles and there for an hour the boys were presented with their freedom before enlisting.

SNORE BETRAYS.

Two Andible Respiration by Man Who Jumped His Ball Some Months Ago Betrays His Whereabouts to Officers Who Were Searching Ranch for Him.

An untimely snore last evening betrayed Eddie Keyes, alias Ed Williams, alias Ed Turk, to a posse of deputy sheriffs and city detectives after they had surrounded the "big racket" in Vernon. The quick move on the part of Detective Hurt prevented bloodshed when the man's mother, Mrs. DeTurk, made an effort to shield Deputy Sheriff Sweeny. Keyes was wanted for violating parole. He created a sensation last summer by kidnapping a 9-year-old Glen Ludlow of Sichel street and taking him for a long trip through the mountains, desert to the coast, and was on probation from Folsom prison for molesting children when he met the little Ludlow boy and was moved into an automobile. After the officers had surrounded the route taken by the fugitive and in this manner the identity of Keyes was established.

"Before the trial of the case Keyes had paid his $2000 ball and was not located till yesterday when the officers learned he was about to visit his mother. While Detective Hurt was awaiting a signal from the officers he heard a snore and in investigating found the prisoner asleep inside the gate that leads to the house.

CONTRACTOR DIES.

Richard H. McCray had been Resident of City for Many Years.

Richard H. McCray, president of the Richard McCray Company of this city, died yesterday at the family residence, No. 234 West Twenty-first street. He had been ill four days. Mr. McCray was born in Indiana. He came to this city twenty-one years ago and for many years was engaged in the grading-contracting business. He had a widow and four sons. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Pierce Chapel and the interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Following the announcement in all the churches in the city, which would leave in the afternoon there were prayers for the safety of the boys. While this was in progress relatives of the guardmen hurried to the armory for last minute and pathetic scenes were enacted as loved ones parted.

EMBARGO ON MUNITIONS.

At last the Washington authorities have placed an embargo on the shipping of munitions into Mexico. After the usual practice of our watchful-waiting diplomats the embargo has come three years too late. It should have been applied at the time when Wilson was heartily supplying the northern rebels with arms and powder to fight the government of Huerta. Wilson's personal feelings toward the dead dictator have brewed a peck of trouble for this country.

SOMETHING IN NAMES.

After all, there's a good deal in a name. People who follow the war news closely can connect with countries names of towns they never heard of until the conflict put them on the map. They don't have to look at date lines to know where are Dubno and Damidovka, or Haute Chevauches or St. Mihiel. And when the cable says that the Germans have lost Monrovia readers do not confuse that with a Russian victory, but know that the operation referred to took place on the continent where Umslopogas was held his mighty club.

FIVE-HUNDRED-DOLLAR TOES.

Let it not be claimed that there is any prejudice against the disciples of Confucius in this part of the country, for an American jury gave an aged Chinaman a verdict of $15,500 against the Southern Pacific Company for having unbraided a freight car cut off one leg and three toes on the other foot of the plaintiff. That was $15,000 for the leg and $500 each for the toes. The Chinaman offers to let the company have the other two toes at the marked down price of $495 each, but instead of availing himself of this generous offer the company will make a motion for a new trial, and a motion for a judgment in its favor not obtainable verdicto, and there will be in due course an appeal and a petition for a rehearing, and, as the years go by, the one-legged victim of corporate rapacity will grow leaner and leaner and maybe he will, if Congress shall enact the pending immigration law, be deported to China as an undesirable. "There's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip," and the steps between a judgment and the collection of a judgment are often long and weary.

DISCORDANT FAMILY.

A forty per cent. of the Mexican people are mestizos of mixed blood—Indian, Aztec and Spanish; another 40 per cent. are plain Indian; about 15 per cent. are of white descent and 5 per cent. of foreign nationalities. Mexico has never been a melting pot: the three classes of its population have kept their distinct characteristics and cared nothing for service to the state.

Half-breeds are notoriously excitable and treacherous. They are especially susceptible to the lure of inflamed oratory and deaf to logic and reason. So that Mexico has aptly been described as a paradise for demagogues. The 40 per cent. of Indians are ignorant and indolent, but capable of tremendous physical endurance. At the present time hunger is their chief incentive to activity and hunger is a dangerous source. There is no one to inform the Indians that the American soldiers are in Mexico to remove the conditions that perpetuate their hunger and nakedness. Since the Indians speak in fifty different languages a campaign of enlightenment is an impossibility.

The handful of pure-blooded Spaniards that up to the fall of Diaz owned all the land in enormous haciendas did nothing for the poor except to get all the returns possible from the cheap labor they afforded—and it was very cheap labor in every sense of the word.

When the United States deals with Mexico it is not a case of one democracy treating with another democracy. By no stretch of the imagination can Mexico be called a democracy. You might as well apply the term to Russia or Tibet. Mexico never will be a democracy unless the strong arm and good services of the United States are employed to entirely reconstruct her internal management of affairs, her laws, domestic finances and general conditions.

As for the whole Mexican people being united in hot hatred for the Americans, if this is so it is the only object in all their existence on which this discordant family has ever combined. Eighty per cent. just now are united chiefly in a clamorous desire for food which the action of the other 20 per cent. has deprived them of. This same 20 per cent. persistently misrepresents American aims and ideals, and should war come on a large scale these misrepresentations will be the cause of the whole trouble.

An unthinking primitive people is being manipulated by a few ambitious soldiers and demagogues and inspired by them to look upon a would-be friend as a predatory enemy. There is no Mexican government. Mexico is a blunderer loaded with misery and discontent and pointed at the head of law and order. Uncle Sam has a man's-size job on his hands and the vacillation of the Wilson administration has not made the coming ordeal lighter or easier.

Really, the ladies who insist on wearing short skirts need a windshield.

A INSOLENT DEMAND.

The striking longshoremen at the harbor are showing of how little use to the community, to his family or to himself a closed-shop union-labor striker can be. The leaders of the strikers have gone so far as to attempt to dictate to the city authorities of Los Angeles what ordinances they shall enact and what course they shall pursue.

There are 800 poles belonging to the city of Los Angeles and needed for use in the municipal electrical distributing system now lying on pier A in Wilmington. It is necessary that these be moved to the crooseting plant at Wilmington for crooseting and painting and then brought into Los Angeles to be distributed and planted.

The strikers have issued their decree that no pole shall leave pier A until their demands are granted, and that any pole that shall be handled, or crooseted, or painted, or loaded, or unloaded on a car or a truck by nonunion men shall never be planted in Los Angeles and that the harbor commissioners must sign an agreement to pay union wages and employ only union men or the poles shall never leave pier A.

These foolish strikers, in their attempt to force the city authorities of Los Angeles to submit to their domination will find that they have started something they cannot finish. The longshoremen are injuring only their families, themselves and the cause of lawful unionism by their foolish strike and their exceedingly foolish attempt to establish the rule of the closed shop in this open-city.

Local Union No. 61, I.B.E.W., in a formal communication to the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners, calls the attention of the commissioners to the fact that the State Harbor Commissioners at San Francisco and at Seattle have signed an agreement with the longshoremen and dock workers yielding to the demands of the strikers, and Local Union No. 61, I.B.E.W., of San Pedro says to the Los Angeles Harbor Commissioners that similar surrender by it "would relieve the acute situation which now exists and prevent any further complications which might arise should material be handled by nonunion men under possible police protection."

The only answer that Los Angeles should make to this insolent communication should be the appointment of 300 special policemen armed with rifles, with instructions to protect nonunion workers.

THE CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTION.

A phase of the British compulsory military service bill which is creating much discussion in the English newspapers is the fate of the conscientious objector, whose attitude has been grudgingly recognized by the authorities.

At present numerous men thus described are in prison for refusing to serve, not as combatant soldiers, but in menial positions as barrack servants. The authorities, having accepted the evidence of the conscientious objections to killing, have nevertheless insisted that such men serve in other capacities under military law.

The most notable case is that of Mr. Chappelow, an official of the education department of the London County Council. Haled before the tribunal to show just cause why he should not serve his country as a soldier, he successfully established conscientious objection to shedding blood. But he was immediately enlisted as a noncombatant and set to sweeping barracks and waiting on table. According to Bernard Shaw and his other sympathizers the man is highly educated, with great literary talent, and an unusual aptitude for problems of national education. Where, they ask, is the economy, the wisdom, the necessity in putting such a man to menial work while education is still quite as important a national necessity? Mr. Chappelow's repeated refusal to do the work allotted to him has resulted in his conviction to a term of imprisonment, and thus his labors are lost in both departments.

It is a question with which this country may very reasonably be confronted at some future time. On the face of it Mr. Chappelow's case is a hard one. Exemptions from military service are being made by thousands of cases where the civil work is regarded as of as much importance as the military work. Since the man has apparently a good record as an educator it would seem that he could have been exempted on this head. But the fact is that the authorities have no patience with conscientious objection and are taking it out in spite.

There is another case which is equally equivocal. A man with a taste for cavalry gave up a good civil position to enlist in a cavalry regiment, but after a short term of service his health broke down and he was incapacitated for all but noncombatant duties. He naturally expected to return to civil life and occupation. But no. The authorities insisted that he was quite well enough to wait upon officers' mess and promptly allotted him that task, declining to give him an honorable discharge.

So this man of standing and position, who eagerly volunteered to fight and made the great sacrifice of his civil position, now finds that he is merely a servant, often waiting upon men very much his inferior.

These are two cases out of many thousands which are causing much agitation in England just now. It is certainly a question that should be settled and defined. When a man volunteers to fight for his country it is ignominious to be required to wait at table and wash dishes. Such jobs have to be done, of course, but there should be some more discriminating way of allotting them.

What the military authorities obviously need is a little imagination. Even the man who cannot or will not fight can surely, if he has shown himself able, be put to more useful occupation than washing dishes.

If the volunteer system is to be a success men must know exactly what they are volunteering for. It may be a national offense for a man to refuse to help defend his country, but are we prepared to regard it as criminal if he refuses to wash dishes for the officers' mess?

JOHNSON AND PEPPER.

Gov. Johnson and Victor Murdock are emulating the example of the historic Tom Pepper who, after trying earth and heaven and purgatory, was finally blown out of hell. "Roll out a barrel of sulphur," said Satan, "give Pepper some matches and let him start a little hell on his own account. We don't want him in here kicking up a row all the time."

Difficult Bit of Country Encountered Just After Leaving St. Louis.

THE DOMINANT ISSUE.

They proved themselves to be skillful and efficient architects of ruin. With their free trade club they smashed about every industry in the country. The value of American railroad stocks and bonds shrank over one thousand millions of dollars. Two million laborers were thrown out of employment by the suspension of work in factories, foundries and mines.

Then after three years of the industrial ruin that followed the election in 1892 of Grover Cleveland and a Democratic Congress, the American people by an overwhelming majority elected McKinley and a Republican Congress, and protection was restored.

After sixteen years of prosperity came upon us the calamity of 1912, and although protection had a majority of 3,311,445 of the popular vote, the unfortunate division of its friends placed its enemies in power and the Underwood tariff was the result.

That the evil consequences which followed the Democratic victory of 1892 did not visit us in 1912 was due to the outbreak of the great war. Europe's calamity was America's industrial salvation.

But the war will terminate, and with its termination will come conditions which although changed in many respects will be unchanged in that a restoration of protection will be as necessary as ever to secure a restoration of prosperity. The burned child will not again thrust his fingers into the flame. Who can doubt that the American people will act wisely and patriotically in November next and again elect a president with a firm record of patriotism and a good record for protection.

There are a few other questions, of greater or less importance, about which the two parties differ. Democrats in their Baltimore platform favored exemption from tolls of American coastwise ships passing through the Panama Canal, and then Mr. Wilson and his Congress smashed that plank of their platform into pieces by repealing the tolls exemption law. This act of Democratic perfidy is costing the producers and consumers of California millions of dollars per annum. California Republican Congressmen will fight for a restoration of the tolls exemption law.

Republicans propose to free our commerce with the Orient from the strangle clutch of the seaman's law and Democrats propose to tighten the clutch with Mr. Wilson's ship-purchasing law. Democrats propose to take away from the States control of the waters of running streams by leasing them to bureau-favored monopolies and to withdraw oil lands and coal lands from acquisition by the American prospector, while Republicans propose not to interfere with the land laws and mining laws under which the country has been.

It is a question with which this country may very reasonably be confronted at some future time. On the face of it Mr. Chappelow's case is a hard one. Exemptions from military service are being made by thousands of cases where the civil work is regarded as of as much importance as the military work. Since the man has apparently a good record as an educator it would seem that he could have been exempted on this head. BLANKET SALE

In Spite of Rising Bedding Prices—One of the Best We Ever Held

To anyone who has lived long in Los Angeles, this Sale needs no introduction; it is annually waited for by hundreds of patrons—who replenish bedding for winter or for immediate use; hotel and apartment house managers habitually avail themselves of the savings offered at this time. While the big feature of the Sale is Blankets, nevertheless, minutes before the trains departed, that the men will probably be members of the Federal service this afternoon or tomorrow.

Every item in the Bedding Section is More or Less Reduced Now and Prices are no Higher Than in Former Sales.

MORE WOMEN THAN MEN.

Women's interest in the departing soldiers was more than evidence of their fidelity. There were more women than men at Exposition Park, where they gathered in the army and about the various groups.

They gathered in the parks of Cal.

E., as men, with arms secured, laid upon the grass in the shade of eucalyptus trees, and sang "Bonnie," "It's a Long Way from San Fran- cisco." Others gathered and applauded the patriotic airs of the band, and cheering as the train started the battalion to the tune. "There's a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Women and daughters of officers in the great mining field.

In the meantime, the miners were a very interesting stage, and predicted that before long they would find their

was near collapse as the imminent

train moved away in the dusk, with the band playing "Dixie."

CATHOLIC BARBECUE.

DOWNEY, June 25.—A barbecue which was attended by a number of pleasure-seekers of Southern California was held here today, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., under the auspices of the Catholic War Council. The proceeds of the meat was in the hands of men who have been experts in the art since the time the Spanish population predominated in the eastern part of the State and who accurately reproduced the old-time Spanish barbecue.

DELINEATION FORCEFUL.

STRONG WORK BY KEENAN IN TRIANGLE PHOTOFEST.

By Grace Kingsley.

A characterization as fine and clean-cut as a cameo is Frank Keenan's Knowlton in "The Stepping Stone" at the Palace this week. The role is that of a hard, cold, steel-nerved gambler on Wall street, who satisfies his love of drama by molding the fortunes of those about him. A sardonic humor has this Knowlton and a keen insight into human nature and the feelings. Keenan gets over it clearly, as convincingly as though he had use of language, yet without undue gesture, and almost entirely by means of a wonderfully modulated vocal line.

The photoplay is one of the higher class, in that it tells a clear, plausible, logical story, played by Pauline Starke, not puppets. Mary Boland looks beautiful and plays most acceptably, and Robert McKim, as the egotistical wallflower, does most excellent work.

Garrison. The double task of learning how to cure leprosy and reforming leprosy bands admittedly is "some job."

The prize canary of "Canary Cottage," at the Mason, who is steadily gaining popularity, and (above) Marie Walcamp, who is to star soon in the Universal feature, "The Daughter of the U. S. A." Miss Walcamp's garb is the same as she wore in the recent preparedness parade, when she dressed to represent Columbia.

very few actresses, have ever experienced the sensation of being thrown up into the air and sailing through the air in an aeroplane. This sensation was actually experienced by Miba Goodrich and she will carefully depict the same to the thousands of her audience during her coming vaudeville experience.

Cut-up Note. Trixie Friganza declares that if Grace Mayfield wrestles Tony Ajax tomorrow night, she wants to see the bout. Miba Goodrich has rather a crutch, however, than leave her understudy to work in her place, so she'll probably have to forego the pleasure. But a nice motion picture man has promised to have the outfit made for Trixie.

First Time in Two-a-day. The "I knew her when—" club will be in its glory this week at the Orpheum, when Maud Fealy appears. She will be in the house on June 28, and when she made her footlong bow, she has filled many interesting engagements, from leading woman for Sir Henry Irving to stock. This, however, is her first vaudeville tour.

Real Party. Helen MacGowan and J. P. MacGowan give a very pleasant housewarming party this evening at home in Garvanza last Saturday night. Among those present were Mrs. Sals, Anita King, Paul Hirst, William Gilson, Myra Gonzalez, Clark Irving, J. C. Jason, Ken O'Hara, William Beebe, Charles Pike, Messrs. Nutt, Pope, and others.

Faul Hirsch or somebody suggested if anybody felt at any time that the party was getting dull, that Miss Holmes would kindly leap from the sofa, sit on the floor, and then leap back on the sofa again. It was a good idea, but nothing like that was necessary.

"What?" I asked.

The way they make President Wilson and those other busy public men spend their time posing for the newsmen is a mystery.

"Ain't it awful?" Marjorie whined to me during the run of the newsmen.
